

Off The Cuff

At just 34 years old, Romain Gauthier has already made great waves in the world of horology with his simple and clean watch designs that house his own calibre 2206Hm movement. And with his obvious feel for aesthetically pleasing yet functional objects, it is no great surprise that he has taken all the skills he has acquired as a watchmaker and applied them to his first accessory - a cufflink.

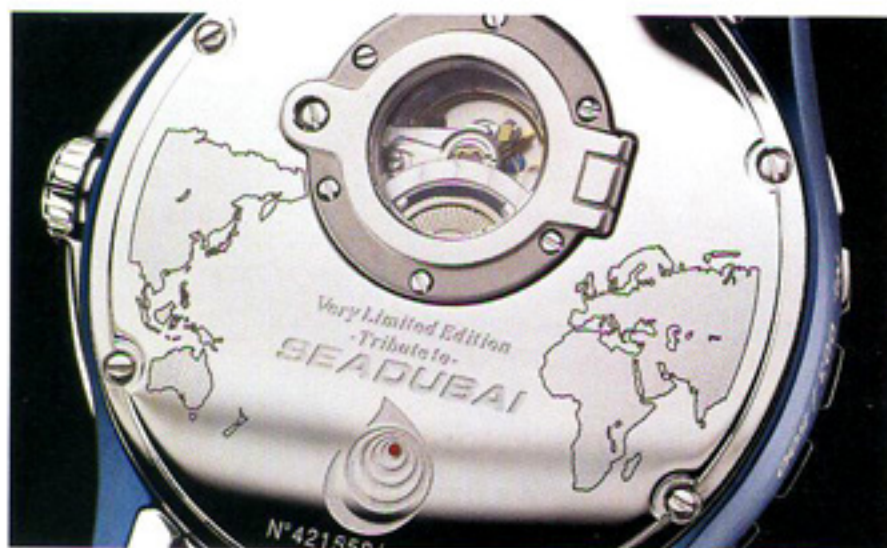

Each cufflink has 45 different micro components and the innovative automatic opening/closing system means that even those with a less-than-delicate touch should be able to insert and remove the cufflinks with ease. Bespoke pieces featuring the client's choice of stone and engraving are also available.

Lamborghini Blancpain Super Trofeo

The painstaking efforts of Blancpain President Marc A Hayek paid off at Silverstone on 16 August when he topped the podium in the fourth leg of the Lamborghini Blancpain Super Trofeo championship. After taking first place, Hayek - who was behind the wheel of car number 24, alongside Dutch driver Peter Kox - said: "I am particularly proud of competing on the Silverstone track. This challenge is all the more stimulating in that the race course is extremely fast and very demanding."

Wind In Their Sails

Extending its maritime partnerships, 125-year-old Edox has become the official timing partner of Mina Seyahi Dubai, a division of DIMC. And to mark the occasion, as well as celebrate the new regatta yacht Sea Dubai RC 44, the company has created the new Sea Dubai Limited Edition.
